Cantatonia, Intercontinental Sigh

You ran out of stories and the night is long Like the iciest winter, we struggle, the bond has gone Traps sprung in conversation And your silence is welcome

Someone, somewhere must be having more fun than this Someone, somewhere must be having more fun than this

You dream yours and I'll dream mine and we'll be happy For when I sleep, I am who I always wanted to be

We dream our love will grow Your fake Brando, my fake Monroe

Someone, somewhere must be having more fun than this Someone, somewhere must be having more fun than this

Someone, somewhere must be having more fun than this Someone, somewhere must be having more fun than this