Carina Round, Sit Tigh

Sit tight, it's your version of alive You keep your molecules inside I know you know desire is not so polite Take a quick breath, do you feel what's inside? Restraint is the frame that you have found But I see your soul as Juan Miro` Maybe a Chagall Escaping through your eyes like a liquid time Take a quick breath do you feel what's inside? Take a quick breath, do you still feel? Your tongue is twisted silk like Into ragged reason, untie your disguise Come into the sunlight There you are in sight The reason is, the reason is, the reasons are There for you to ignore You drift into the wind of love And all you desired, dreamed of Is found under your feet It was there all the time

I know you feel alone, those pictures are never gonna leave my head Your tears so heavy, they're breaking down doors inside your head Someday you're gonna find her, she will be almost blinded By the light so bright you keep inside your heart, heavy as lead I know you feel alone, those pictures are never gonna leave my head Your tears so heavy, they're breaking down doors in your head, in your head Someday you're gonna find her, she will be almost blinded By the light so bright you keep inside your heart