

Carly Simon, Someone Waits For You

Oh, my heart knows more
With each passing day
And I know I'll change
If you leave or stay
But when our world turns
Where it's turning to
You'll see some hearts fade
While mine shine's on through
I will still be there
Some day for you

You see, somewhere
Someone waits for you
Who hopes you
Will come through
Who'll wait until you do
You'll see a light
In some familiar door
And when you reach the shore
It won't hurt any more

Remember, night may trouble you
With endless dreams
But blue skies wait for you
Beyond the sunrise
I'm here, so walk into your fate
It never is too late

There's someone smiling through
Who'll do all they can do, for you
Remember, somewhere
Someone waits for you

There's someone smiling through
Who'll do all they can do, for you
Remember, somewhere
Someone waits for you