

Cast, Finetime

So what's it all about, do you really wanna to know
Do you wanna to give or do you just wanna to take it all and go
Coz you've gotta let it out if you wanna let it in Gotta get a little bit of lovin' in to make it all begin

You've gotta find time to pick the right time to make a change
Cos its a fine time to pick the right time to make a change
So when you gonna learn that it takes all sorts
Don't you think life would be a little drab if we had the same thoughts
Cos you've taken all the good but you leave me with the bad
And if you don't make a change pretty soon there won't be nothin' comin back

You've gotta find time to pick the right time to make a change
Cos its a fine time to pick the right time to make a change

I do believe you read the verse
I do believe you wrote the words
I just need to let you out to let you in with me
I just need to feel you're love again and again

You've gotta find time to pick the right time to make a change
Cos its a fine time to pick the right time to make a change
So what's it all about, and do you really wanna to know
Do you wanna give or do you just want to take it all and go
Cos you've got to let it out if you wanna let it in Better let a bit of little lovin' in and make it all begin

You've gotta find time to pick the right time to make a change
You'd better find time, be the right time to make a change

I do believe you read the verse
I do believe you wrote the words
I just need to let you out to let you in with me
I just need to feel you're love again and again and again and again
