

Cataract, Killing Tool

Bright headlines used as a calming injection. In the mirror of lies I see the reflection Of buried thoughts and stolen freedom The absorbed struggle of the human race This killing tool in this reign of control All the miseries of this rotten life In blood their baptised with poisoned words Truth once so pure has been deleted And all curse of history has been neglected This killing tool in this reign of control Victims become the worst enemies Their Lords and kings are now the weak The power of today's mass media have an destructive impact on our modern society. Manipulated headlines are being used as deadly weapons in warfare and propaganda is one of the leading forces of this war machinery. The abuse of mass media to manipulate the opinions of millions of people is growing dramatic and is well accepted as a part of this system. Of this failed system.