

Cattle Decapitation, In Axetasy

Behold!

The blade is nice and dull from the millions of heads, from the millions that we left for dead

Bluntly disassembled and painfully dissected

With an instrument of gore, bisected heads like rose pedals litter the floor

Clinically insane - serotonin flooding the brain

A sudden charge of epinephrine leaves my victims writhing in pain

In ecstasy I continue to maim - no one around me shall remain the same

I can take off their scalp, watch the cranium palpitate, bleeding and throw them away

I decide your fate

I say you're too late

With the Judgment Stick of hate

I decapitate

With this axe... I behead.

With this knowledge I've obtained of the human race

I leave you dead...

I've stared in the eyes of my helpless casualties

I've yet to experience any kind of "human" remorse...

I stand on the harvest floor

The place where death shows its face

and extinguishes all of the human race...

Behold!

A blade to crush the skull, the ribcage, break every bone and destroy every membrane

Smite the people with vengeance and bring damnation upon their descendents

Bluntly disassembled and painfully dissected with an assemblage of gore, bisected heads, append

Clinically deranged - norepinephrine driving me insane

A sudden charge of adrenaline leaves my victims writhing in pain

In ecstasy I continue to maim - everyone now just a pawn in my game

I can remove their faces now displaced in ways that you never thought could happen again

Like the murders of yore

Dearly departed and discarded gore

Forever living in my mind

In axetasy - the only peace I can find...

I decide your fate

I say you're too late

With the Judgment Stick of hate

I decapitate

With this axe... I behead

With this knowledge I've obtained of the human race

I leave you dead...

I've stared in the eyes of my helpless casualties

I've yet to experience any kind of "human" remorse...

I stand on the harvest floor

The place where death shows its face

And extinguishes all of the human race...

In axetasy its fight or flight

Euphoria in slice and dice

No better way to spend my nights

In axetasy I end your life