

Celestial Season, The Orleans Capsule

Here she comes see the shine of her velvet afterglow feel the flow and the heat of the body generator one more show through the orb of a million years one last show another ride into the dustzone free to run through the fields of the unseen silverbow now I now live is easy today if I could control myself I would leave it for tomorrow