

Celesty, Among The Dreams

Again, I woke from that dream, which felt like reality
I was walking towards the light, and there I saw my child
And you were there with him, you didn't see me at all
I wanted to stay, cause I have never felt this way
I was fading away

I tried to reach you, and I tried to scream
But you couldn't hear, you withdraw more and more
Then you did turn to watch me you looked in the eyes and you said don't be afraid, it all will turn to good someday
I was fading away

How does it feel, when a soul finally finds it's peace
Mind in a place where thoughts fly among the dreams
As I lay down, every moment feels like endless journey
And that's where I wake and see you right beside of me

Everything fades away

How does it feel, when a soul finally finds it's peace
Mind in a place where, thoughts fly among the dreams
As I lay down, every moment feels like endless journey
And that's where I wake and see you right beside of me right beside of me

I know you won't believe, but I have been there
And I have seen in a dream the end of this all
In the end we all will fall
