

Cellador, A Sign Far Beyond

Lost all alone and bound for nowhere with no thought nor aim to find your choices made, decisions hollow and forced into your mind

In darkness you wander abound in an empty endless night forever searching for the light

Controlling your mind
(all thoughts and all dreams turning to illusion)
leaving all behind

Upon you face stares the watcher following words of lie he guides your steps walks you to sorrow misguiding your life

The hand of the master the palm of the maker shields your eyes break from the feeder or go blind

Controlling your mind
(all thoughts and all dreams turning to illusion)
leaving all behind

One day you will realize in time you will blink and see the light and from out of grace your soul will shine

Controlling your mind
(all thoughts and all dreams turning to illusion)
leaving all behind
controlling your mind
(all thoughts and all dreams turning to illusion)
leaving all behind

Just wake up and open your eyes..