Cellador, No Chances Lost

We're all off to meet our maker And I know we won't go far If there's a chance at life, it's not in sight When you watch the world go dark When you take a chance and you throw it up If you watch to see where it falls Even in the end it'll always end up small

So dont waste your time, just free your mind Beyond this you can't look behind Move on forth to a place above it all Head up high into the sky Just take a chance and try to fly Leave it all and we will never fall

So ride on together til sunrise again We ride on forever til the very end We ride on together no matter the cost No journey's too great and no chances are lost Never hold back against a dream you wanted long Keep on movin' on...

Look real hard into yourself and see if you can find That burning light thats shining bright inside us all tonight A wasted day to a wasted month to a wasted life you'll find That without a dream you might as well be blind

Don't be left unsatisfied Someday each of us will die No turning back to see what's dead and gone A challenge beard is a challenge shared Just face your fear now, don't be scared Hold your ground, no fate can hold us down

So ride on together til sunrise again We ride on forever til the very end So ride on together no matter the cost No journey's too great and no chances are lost Never hold back against a dream you wanted long Keep on movin' on...

Each and all of us have time in their life A self-realization that with all regret turns to light

So dont waste your time, just free your mind Beyond this you can't look behind Move on forth to a place above it all No blessed truth can give you say You alone decide the way Hear the path from inside of your heart

So ride on together til sunrise again We ride on forever til the very end We ride on together no matter the cost No journey's too great and no chances are lost So ride on together til sunrise again We ride on forever til the very end We ride on together no matter the cost No journey's too great and no chances are lost...