

Celtus, Two Worlds

High upon the edge
I can see the sun's eternal flame
And I, have crossed the wild
Solitary child, just to be with you
I've a secret place of vague mystic lace
Where we can hide away
A strange and quiet place
Where we can be alone
Then our two worlds collide into one
Like a memory you linger on my breath
Then our two worlds collide into one
Now look into my face
You are in my blood
You are in my fate
And light won't break the spell
Burning in the dark
Then our two worlds collide into one
Like a memory you linger on my breath
Then our two worlds collide into one