

Century, Between All Time

everything is like the dust on our memories - a great lie all great exspectations fade like the sun in natural harmony while we try to hold each other forever near - the shadow grows all these invisible lights we conceal will be released in tears time - against us - a chain until death time - between us - stealing every breath acting in silence - all our lives - we are between all time there is no chance to try - all our lives - we are between all time every day a burden sinking on our destiny - the distance melts and all the days we have to go decreasing so easily between time

time - against us - a chain until death
time - between us - stealing every breath
acting in silence - all our lives - we are between all time
there is no chance to try - all our lives - we are between all time

my arms around you, please save this moment with me maybe this moment can be the reason, maybe this moment will be the key

time - against us - a chain until death
time - between us - stealing every breath
acting in silence - all our lives - we are between all time
there is no chance to try - all our lives - we are between all time my love for you - we are between all time my life with you - we are between all time