The lord of wind howls upon the throne of Uggae...

Binding of the Elder gods to reclaim this earthen plain...

Yet leap through the vortex does Absu rise combined also with forces of Tiamat gained knowledge of the conjuration of Marduk..

Hold fast the ancient ones grasp upon our land not to allow the binding of the elder ones to reclaim the throne of Kia... Let thee be told!

Many a leige pass upon the vortex as monsters brought fourth by the call of the ancient ones as so by a name a shape and number...

Absu cries of war to all whom would raise their swords upon the name of ancient power to rule this plain once more.. Let thee be warned...

(- The Shroud of Uggae - 1:02)

Destiny unknowned to thee Elder kings.

Hear your name from the call of Absu.

Through the land Uggae leaps abound.

To call names of war through chaos...

Marduk rises forth upon land to hearken fourth the winged fates... A call from the end of time to open wide the eternal gates...

Absu hearken lest ye fall to ancient heart shall Marduk call...

The sky to blaze of hazen night to summon forth the elder rite...

Lest maelstrom take its hold on all and realm of Kia shall befall...

Elders rise to take their stand as Ancients claim this realm of man...

Upon the sky winged fates howl of war to lands wherein no time does exist to realms void of light. Kia Alal Kanpa! Destroyer of earth remember!

Yet pass the gates of Uggae do they fly...

(- Leigons of the Graves - 0:54)

Cries of war... does Marduk howl... as the Elders... raise upon the Ancient...

ones to reseize the realm of Kia in names unformed of shape, number, or form...

Cry of war as winged fates fly...

Beyond realms of time yet through the vortex...

Sword of might...struck upon fate...

As the beast did... fall upon those dark waters!

To silence all cries of the winged...

The insumountable creature from its grave!

Does it ponder the howl of fates...

Amidst cries of war the beast does rise...

Of fire! Marduk struck fourth a fiery disk! Lashing upon the life of Absu to render the beast silent. Rays of death! Dead but dreaming life...

Past the oceans to summon fourth the Elder liege!
Hear me! Liege of chaos...
Come forth and render the Ancient fires as coal yet iced winds blowing!
Struck upon the Ancient ones As Nergal did fall as first slain..
Names of death of war! A blaze!
As rage did fill the eyes of Tiamat who struck forth with winds of winters bane!
As risen from its watery grave the beast does pass upon the vortex
Elder gods did turn pale with fear as the beast did draw ever near Zi Kia Kanpa Kutulu Barra!
Dark waters did recede and the beast now howls of war to the fates

(- Shadows of the Sky - 3:87)

Marduk did sense a presence
As did the Ancient ones truly
And all turned pale with fear
For fear the beast would appear
Spirits of the blazen sky remember thee whom slain did die
Spirits of the deadened sky hear thee lord Cthulhu's cry
As gates flew wide the beast came forth
Pale with fear were those whom did hear
Spirits of the darkened sky hearken as the winged fates fly
Shadows darkened the land and sky
Barra Xul!
Dark Waters have risen...
Marduk has journeyed from winged elemental crests to our darkened earth, where ancient rule has reveled for centuries of chaos, where as our race of men has cried fourth from infernal evanesence...Risen upon us lord of all from your sleep to claim our earth from ancient rule who slayed your son ereshkigal befall this plain...
A blaze in the sky the leigon to fly upon broken night the kingdom takes flight..
Hearing the cry these winged do fly.. Who shall it be? CTHULHU!...

(- Of a new Chapter - 1:11)

Names of death were called to them all!
Absu fell as its life fluid did spill upon the land.. The fates did draw upon the sands of time! Marduk cried forth his plea to be heard by him.. Hearken as the fates did draw upon the sand! The dark waters did flow red with the fluid of Ancient ones. As the Elder ones did recede from the land claimed of Cthulhu Race of men would befall
Cthulhu has claimed this realm
Did Marduk perish with those, Upon winged elemental crests...
