

Chalee Tennison, Someone Else's Turn To Cry

(Chalee Tennison/Jim Robinson)

Hello, old friend, haven't seen you for a while
Just how long has it been, I've missed your smile
It's so easy to lose touch
Some days I'd all but given up on you
Now here you are to see me through

Mirror mirror on the wall
Who is the strongest one of all
The broken heart I used to be of
This woman staring back at me
I'm so glad you've come around
With your help I won't back down
It's time to hold our head up high
It's someone else's turn to cry

You and I, we go back a long, long way
Still I'm surprised to see that look upon your face
I don't see the tears this time
There is something different in your eyes
Now I know how I've needed you so

Mirror mirror on the wall
Who is the strongest one of all
The broken heart I used to be of
This woman staring back at me

I'm so glad you've come around
With your help I won't back down
It's time to hold our head up high
It's someone else's turn to cry

I'm so glad you've come around
With your help I won't back down
It's time to hold our head up high
Let's wipe the tears out of our eyes
It's someone else's turn to cry