

Champion Jack Dupree, I Had A Dream

Man, you know one thing I always dream...

Yeah

And that's the one thing in the world for a hard workin' man to do, you know...

Yeah, you better see Sigmund Freud.

Yeah, you know, that's bad, you know.... For you don't never dream nothin' nice. I don't know what you dream, but I know when I go to bed I dream about old wagon wheels, old boxcars, old broken down flat-clad chihuahua's(?). I ain't never dreamed nothin' about a pretty woman or a woman walkin' around nude or something like that, I can't get them dreams together you know. Too hard a work, you know.

Not a hard-working man's dream.

No, no, no.

(Sung:)

I had a dream, and what a dream was on my mind. (My, my)
I had a dream, a dream was on my mind
Lord I said to myself, how could a hard working man dream all the time?

Well I dream my wife had ten babies, and every one of them looked like me
(What?) Yes, man! (A sinful world!)
Yes, I dream my wife had ten babies, and every one of them looked like me
I know they was mine, man, I know that (In the dream you mean!)
But when I woke up this morning, not a baby did I see

Well I dream I got married, I got married to a millionaire
Boy I was in the money, wasn't I? (A millionairess!)
Yes I dream I got married, I got married to a millionaire
She took me down to the bank (uh-uh), she said, Jack Dupree, all your money's in there!

But I turned over in my bed and I grabbed my pillow and put it over my head
(uh-uh)
Yes, I turned over in my bed, grabbed my pillow and put it over my head
Because that was the worst dream I hever had
For a second I thought I was dead

(Mickey's Solo:)

Wake me up, s
