

Chandelier, The Ultimate Song

This is the ultimate song, I feel it won't be long
After the very last tones come trickling out your phones
Your wishes all will explode
Take a walk to the bomby wood, listen to the sirene's call
Ignore the starving shades, convulsive in the glades
Close you eyes, otherwise, your eyeballs will vaporize
In the presence of megadeath, you'll hold your breath
This is the ultimate song, I feel it won't be long
After the very last tones come trickling out your phones
Your wishes all will explode
Don't complain my hero, it's all agreed long since
The devils, the gods, the managers, they all have dropped their hints
Turn around, hush, make no sound
Maybe you can escape with a bad over your head
Duck under your bed
This is the ultimate song, I feel it won't be long
After the very last tones come trickling out your phones
Your wishes all will explode
This is the ultimate tune, it will be over soon
Make the most of the chance, enjoy the last dance
"Get it while you can"
Stay away sweet children, your dreams will burn to screams
We don't see your pure hearts, hate is our fate
For million years the billions tears haven't changed anything
Those who cannot cry know the reason why
This is the ultimate song, I feel it won't be long
After the very last tones come trickling out your phones
Your wishes all will explode
This is the ultimate tune, it will be over soon
Make the most of the chance, enjoy the last dance
"Get it while you can"
