Chantal Kreviazuk, Waiting

Well it all comes down to the things that I never even wanted I should live my life without holding on to you

But its hard to see the sky through the clouds when its raining... I know somewhere it's blue

Well it all comes down to the love that was never really given I should've taken more than time to get the truth

And its hard to believe that you couldn't recognize my tears I glued them on for you.

Waiting to fall apart

Waiting and it all comes down to you

When it all breaks down I won't be the one that's running

But under every rock and stone I try to hide

And it's hard to believe that behind this smile there are tears...

I hold them all inside

Waiting to fall apart

Waiting and it comes down

Waiting to fall apart

Waiting and it all comes down to you

I hear you calling, I know that voice

I hear you calling, I have no choice

I hear you calling, I know that voice

I hear you calling...

Waiting...

Well it all comes down to the things that I never even wanted I should live my life without holding on to you

And it's hard to believe that you couldn't recognize my tears

I glued them on for you. Waiting to fall apart

Waiting and it all comes down... To you.