

Chapman Steven Curtis, Where We Belong

Chapman Steven Curtis

The Great Adventure

Where We Belong

A gentle breeze was blowing

The air was heavenly sweet - life was so complete

In a picture perfect garden

While the sun went down you could hear the sound

Of a man and woman crying - saying what have we done

We made our choice and now we're dying

And we've got to leave this place and hide from God's face but this is

CHORUS

Where we belong where you and I were meant to be (from now on) all along

Made by the Father to live in His love

It's the purpose and plan for the heart of man

This is where we belong

The warm winds of change were blowing

After years and years of hopeless tears

One man became the doorway

That would lead back to the place where life was new

A place just like the garden where we walk and talk with God

The way creation started

Where each heart and soul can come and be whole (this is)

(Chorus)

BRIDGE

Like the stars belong in the sky like a fish belongs in the water

Just like children you and I belong in the hands of the Father (this is)

(Chorus)