

Charice, It Can Only Get Better

Let the sun refuse to shine
It won't be long before the days are brighter
If every step's an uphill climb
Carry on until they feel much lighter
For all the clouds up in the sky
For all the teardrops in our eyes
It can only get better
Be still my heart, it can only get better
We've come this far, it can only get better
I know it hurts, for what it's worth it can only get better
If he should ever come our way
Dry the tears and look somewhere above him
Might be easier to say than to do
But just pretend that you no longer love him
When your back's against the ropes
When you miss someone the most
It can only get better
Be still my heart, it can only get better
We've come this far, it can only get better
I know it hurts, for what it's worth it can only get better
I know it hurts, for what it's worth it can only get better
It can only get better
I know it hurts, for what it's worth it can only get better
It can only get better
