

Charley Pride, Amy's Eyes (1990)

Charley Pride
Miscellaneous
Amy's Eyes (1990)

Amy left the crayons on the table yesterday
So I called her in and asked her to help put them away
And I noticed on the table theres a picture she had drawn
It was me and Amy, just the two of us alone

She pointed to three spaces she had underlined in red
And the teardrops started falling when she looked at me and said
Its my mommy and my daddy and me here at home
But since mommy doesnt live here, I just colored mommy gone

Didnt understand until I saw through Amys eyes
Youre out of the picture youre not missing in her mind

Youve been gone so long now but I thought that you should know
Amy loves her mommy and we need you here at home
So Im sending you the picture and I hope you take the time
And see that some things missing when you look through Amys eyes

Didnt understand until I saw through Amys eyes
Youre out of the picture youre not missing in her mind
So Im sending you the picture and I hope you take the time
And see that some things missing when you look through Amys eyes
Youll see that some things missing when you look through Amys eyes
Amy left the crayons on the table yesterday