

Charlie Landsborough, Loreto

Oh I had seen the petals fallen from the roses of your dream
I've seen them go thru fire fate that once danced in your eyes
The hands of grave reality that chocked your fantasy
Everyday another flower dies

Loreto so many shades of blue
Loreto I would die for you

I have a plan to seize your heart take you towards the sun
Break the spell of circumstance and give you back your wings
To love you like a tidal wave and carry you away from here
Heal your broken heart with gentle things

Loreto so many shades of blue
Loreto I would die for you

Loreto let me love away all the ghosts of yesterday
Loreto tell me I can stay with you

Loreto so many shades of blue
Loreto I would die for you

Loreto so many shades of blue
Loreto I would die for you

Loreto so many shades of blue
Loreto I would die for you
I would die for you
I would die for you
