

Charlie Landsborough, Your Eyes

Some are green
We all know the cost
Comes from wanting things
That can't be yours
Envy is a killer
You'll have to fight
Whenever he's present
He shows in the light of your eyes

Some are clear
Like a mountain stream
They don't harbor hate
If you know what I mean
Their mind is untroubled
Guilt has no hold
No one can hide
From the story that's told in your eyes

Your eyes are the mirror of your soul
Your eyes give you away
Whatever things are written in your heart
Your eyes can't help but say

Some are hard
All compassion gone
They don't care
Who they walk upon
Afraid to be gentle
Afraid to be kind
They think that love is a weakness
They don't want to find in your eyes

Your eyes are the mirror of your soul
Your eyes give you away
Whatever things are written in your heart
Your eyes can't help but say

Some are blue blue blue

Some are warm
Like a summer's day
Full of love
That they give away
Good done in secrets
God will reward
His mighty blessing
He will record in your eyes

Your eyes are the mirror of your soul
Your eyes give you away
Whatever things are written in your heart
Your eyes can't help but say

Your eyes are the mirror of your soul
Your eyes give you away
Whatever things are written in your heart
Your eyes can't help but say

Your eyes are the mirror of your soul
Your eyes give you away
Whatever things are written in your heart