

Charlie Louvin, Life Begins At Love

Life begins at forty so the old say and go but I started living heaven only knows
When they sent me an angel down from above
And I'm here to tell you life begins at love
Life begins at love no matter what you've heard
Date makes no difference so don't believe a word
People lately find come a life with cupid show
You just exist till you've been kissed life begins at love
[steel - guitar]
Now I knew a man who's thought he held the world
Cause he was living but he never held a girl
Such a foolish thing what was he's thinking of Don't he know it's really so life begins at love
Life begins at love...