

Charlie Louvin, Proof Is In The Kissing

Oh that proof is in the kissing in the kissing in the kissing
And lately you ain't proving much to me
You tell me that you'd rather die before you let me go
I guess that's why you're looking pale your lips are turning cold
I thought your love was serious but you were only jesting
Now I see you're not for me the proof is in the kissing
Oh the proof is in the kissing and that just goes to prove
Your lips are getting ready to make another move
I thought you really loved me but that was thankful wishing
You're almost already gone the proof is in the kissing
Oh the proof is in the kissing in the kissing in the kissing
And lately you ain't proving much to me
[steel - dobro]
Oh the proof is in the kissing in the kissing in the kissing
And lately you ain't proving much to me
You used to hold and squeeze my hand and kiss me so sweet
Now your squeezes ain't so lent your kisses aren't complete
Instead of sitting here with you I should've gone out fishing
With your line I could hook a whale the proof is in the kissing
Oh the proof is in the kissing...
And lately you ain't proving much to me
