

Charlie Louvin, Say It's Not You

Darling there's a talk around town bout a girl who spreads love around
With soft lips and eyes crystal blue darling say it's not you
They say that she comes in alone and stay till self respect is gone
Then each night she leaves with someone new darling say it's not you
At first what they said didn't hurt me until they mentioned her name
Then slowly the tears overtook me cause her name and yours is the same
Each night till the breaking of dawn I'm praying that you're not the one
Tell me lies but say it's not true darling say it's not you darling say it's not you
