

Charlie Louvin, Whatever Happened To Happiness

That look of love is no longer in your eyes
We've lost the magic when we touch
For me you once said that you'd live or die
But now sweetheart the goodnight kiss is asking too much

Whatever happened to happiness the good old days that we were blessed
The love is gone we once possessed whatever happened to happiness

As I lie next to you in our bed at night
Hoping that you'll just touch my hand
Wondering what I can do to make things right
And I tried to make myself to understand

Whatever happened to happiness...
Whatever happened to happiness...
Whatever happened to happiness
