

Charlotte Sands, blindspot

You bite your nails when you're nervous
You keep your lighter in your bottom drawer
Your laugh has like two different versions
Yeah it changes when you're insecure

And I know that you cry
Watching certain movies
Why do I stay by your side
When you never choose me

I wish I could have you all to myself
I wouldn't have to share you with everyone else
Why can't you be mine for a minute babe
Maybe I would have you all to myself
If I was anyone else

I hate when you say that I'm so different
From the other girls you've had before
If that's true I'm confused what am I missing
I could be like them a little more

Did you know that I cried
When you called her perfect
I always laugh and I lie
But under the surface

I wish I could have you all to myself
I wouldn't have to share you with everyone else
Why can't you be mine for a minute babe
Maybe I would have you all to myself
If I was anyone else

I'm on the sideline
Watching as you're falling for her
And it's about time
Where you come running back cause you got hurt
I'm in your blind spot
Waiting in the dark, is it my turn
Or am I
Stuck here standing in line

I wish I could have you all to myself
I wouldn't have to share you with everyone else
Why can't you be mine for a minute babe
Maybe I would have you all to myself
All to myself
All to myself

I wish I could have you all to myself
(I'm on the sideline)
(Did you know that I cried)
I wouldn't have to share you with everyone else
(And it's about time)
(And I know that you cried)
I'm in your blindspot
Waiting in the dark, is it my turn
Maybe I would have you all to myself
If I was anyone else
