

Charlus, I Never Really Liked My Body

Calling out to all Tomorrows
I'm pulling for the future and my September heart
I never really liked my body,
I never liked the way I look
If you ever wonder why
Sex passes you by and cries
Oh no, not for you
That which restores also destroys
It's a blessing you will find
To truly be your own
When the World doesn't have principles
And the World doesn't care about
Your feelings
If Perfection is what you're looking for,
Perfect is so hard to find-
Calling out to all Tomorrows
I'm looking towards the future
Coming in the setting sun
Rise me up or drag me under
When the world goes under water,
I will smile as I drown
I never really liked this body
I never liked the way it looked
Nobody ever wants your body
Nobody likes the way you look
I never really liked my body
I never liked the way I look
