

Charly McClain, Dancing Your Memory Away (19

Charly McClain

Miscellaneous

Dancing Your Memory Away (1982)

Its Friday night you must be alone

Thats the only time youd ever phone

But if you drop by dont be surprised

Cause darling I wont be there tonight

Im dancing your memory away in the arms of a stranger

For now Im okay, my hearts out of danger

Tonight while Im waltzing as the band softly plays

Im getting by, one song at a time, dancing your memory away

Once, twice, tell me how many times

Was I a fool for your lying eyes

But I wont be your fool anymore

At least not while Im out on the floor

Im dancing your memory away in the arms of a stranger

For now Im okay, my hearts out of danger

Tonight while Im waltzing as the band softly plays

Im getting by, one song at a time, dancing your memory away

Im dancing your memory away in the arms of a stranger

For now Im okay, my hearts out of danger

Tonight while Im waltzing as the band softly plays

Im getting by, one song at a time, dancing your memory away