Chris Cagle, Walmart Parking Lot

I remember the summer I turned 16 And that old jalopy daddy gave to me

It had holes in the floor and just a 305

But I didn't care 'cause I could finally drive There wasn't much to do in my hometown

So every weekend night we would all go down

Yeah there were freaks and hippies in my high school

Football players all trying to be cool

And everybody scramblin' to hide their beer

When the cops drove by till the coast was clear

Kids falling in and out of love

On the hoods of Chevys, in the beds of trucks

We were stumbling our way through life till our senior year

But man we sure did learn a lot in that Wal-Mart parking lot

She had long blonde hair and sea green eyes

The most beautiful thing I'd ever seen in my life

But I was young and dumb and didn't have a line

And all I could say was " Can I call you sometime? "

She just said no and walked away

And that was the first time I felt my heart break

And there were freaks and hippies in my high school

Football players trying to be cool

And everybody scramblin' to hide their beer

When the cops drove by till the coast was clear

Kids falling in and out of love

On the hoods of Chevys, in the beds of trucks

We were stumbling our way through life till our senior year

But man we sure did learn a lot in that Wal-Mart parking lot

Yeah we all did a lot of livin'

It was small town teenage heaven

And there were freaks and hippies in my high school

We were all just trying to be cool

And everybody scramblin' to hide their beer

When the cops drove by till the coast was clear

Kids falling in and out of love

On the hoods of Chevys, in the beds of trucks

We were stumbling our way through life till our senior year

But man we sure did learn a lot in that Wal-Mart parking lot

In that Wal-Mart parking lot

I had my first kiss, my first love

Got my ass kicked but I got back up

Lost my way, found it again

Had one long buzz and a dozen best friends

In that Wal-Mart parking lot

In that Wal-Mart parking lot
