

Chris Isaak, Changed Your Mind

Over where the rainbow meets the darkened sky.
I pretended there was hope for you and I.
Now to late I guess the real world I find.
You changed your mind, you changed your mind.

Over where tomorrow chases clouds away.
I pretended that somehow you'd really stay.
Now I'm left here with those dreams you tossed away.
You changed your mind, you changed your mind.

Over where the rainbow meets the darkened sky.
I believed that we would never say goodbye.
Now I'm standing here alone to late to cry.
You changed your mind, you changed your mind.
You changed your mind, you changed your mind.

I want your love, I need you love. To late you changed your mind.
I want your love, I still need your love. To late you changed your mind.
Oh, you changed you mind, oh, you changed your mind, you changed your mind.
Oh, you changed your mind.