

Chris LeDoux, Soft Place To Fall

I rode off into the sunset the way cowboys always do
But ten miles west of Fort Worth my thoughts ran back to you
I could feel you there beside me taste your tender lips on mine
You know there'll always be another bronc but true love is hard to find
Last night I found a soft place to fall loving arms to ease me down
To a big old feather bed instead of cold hard ground
I still love the rodeo but with you I can have at all
Cause last night I found a soft place to fall

(guitar)

I've run wilder than the horses that I set out to ride
My freedom was the one thing I fought for all my life
But something in your gentle touch took the fight right out of me
I thought love was meant to tie me down but I've never felt so free
Last night I found a soft place...
Cause last night I found a soft place to fall
