

Chris LeDoux, Something In The Wind

There's something in the wind that's blowin' through my soul
And it's calling out to me saying boy it's time to go
There's a restless feeling in my heart that just wont let me be
And a rustlin' in the leaves that says it will soon be time to leave
You know I'm tryin' hard to try and settle down
But sometimes late at night that old feeling comes around
And I know I should be happy with my woman by my side
Cause she loves me and she needs me but I've got the urge to ride
And I know my woman loves me I love her just the same
I love it when she holds me and softly speaks my name
But this feeling still keeps callin' me that I just can't explain
So I'll hold her in my arms till the feeling goes away

I spent half my life a driftin' I guess it's in my blood
Since I found a dream worth while Lord you think I'd had enough
But this akin deep inside me says boy lets move along
Gotta keep myself from leavin' I can't do my woman wrong
And I know my woman loves me...
Yes I'll hold her in my arms till the feeling goes away
