

Chris Linke, No Tomorrow

I am keeping what you gave me
Lots of scars from that scenery
Although memories fade
But that wouldn't just disappear
That would need amnesty
Just chaos what's in the past
Our relation supposed to last
It's decisions you made
You wanted a restart, a complete new world, a place
No tomorrow for me without breaking in Night and day pass me by I am giving in Can't get back to the place I am living in
My world is falling apart
So I tried to save what was lost
Tried to save it at any cost
Though time's running away
I keep up the past to remember and to alley
I start to forget the hope
Force me to face my antipole
It's all dying away
Wherever I'm going I don't think I will stay
No tomorrow for you without breaking in Night and day pass you by you are giving in Can't get back to the place you were living in
Your world is falling apart (x2)
Your arms straight and your face is all dull and hurt
All your shadows are gone, you're just so obscured
The rest is yet to come, this is my only word
Your world is falling apart
Your world is falling apart