

Chris Rea, She's Gonna Change Everything

There's a light shining on her window
There's a great big guess breathing on her door
Shame it's taken all this time
All these years to find out
She's gonna change everything

I spend so much time sitting in shadows
I feel naked to the bone but I don't care, any more
Shame it's taken all this time
All these years to find out

She's gonna change everything

Oh everybody can't you see
What that angel's done to me
I'm hopelessly in bits
Hanging on to what I think I used to be
Somebody help me please
See this fool way down on his knees
She's gonna change everything you see in me
She's gonna change everything
