

Chuckie Akenz, My heart

see i still remember baby when i picked you from the lot and i knew it when i grabbed you that you'd always have my heart and i told u from the start i would never let no one hurt you i couldnt wait to get you home time to bust and work you first time i pulled u back, baby u was kinda tight but its all good wen we worked it every single night (haha) you were the quiet type whenever we rolled but wen things got out of hand you was ready to explode and i loved you baby even lented u around just to show all my homies how my baby gets down and you never got jelous wen i brang new bitches to play cause after i bust i threw those bitches away no other bitches could stay or share the love that we had cause you kept me alive through all the times that were bad and believe me baby nobody in this fucking world could ever take ur place at my side, you my girl (BANG) see my little little baby dont you know you drive me crazy all over the fuckin hood everybody know you my lady and even though bitches hate me you stand up andre back these bitches aint shit thats why they run when we attack and the police always tryin to break our perfect team apart thats why sometimes i leave u at home or in the dark and you always understand u know im always comin home rest ur head under the pillow or the cuboard near the phone your the first thing i touch when i wake up in the morning you make me feel excited when im still up yawning but baby listen you kno we cant ride no more still remember that day they threw u straight on to the floor they broke down our door, told us not to make a move we coulda died together but instead we had to lose and i regret it baby you saw the tear from my eye now i gotta get a new gun hah goodbye
