

Chumbawamba, Todays Sermon

Stop now
What's that sound
Everybody look what's going down
I am a timebomb
A ticking ticking ticking timebomb
Unattended on the railway station
In the litter at the dancehall
Sitting pretty near the fastfood-counter
In the backseat of a Vauxhall
I am a timebomb
Stop now
What's that sound
Everybody look what's going down
Hear the ticking of your heartbeat beating
Hear the breaking of their promises
Hear the smashing of your expectations
Hear the shattering of half-rhymes
I am a timebomb
Stop now
What's that sound
Everybody look what's going down
And all the timebombs
They're all dancing to the same song
In a world full of no ones
I am someone
Stop now
What's that sound
Everybody look what's going down
Stop now
What's that sound
London Bridge is falling down
