Cinderella Effect, Creature Of Masquerade

Creature of masquerade (Jaw. Lyrics by Pascal Finkenauer) lay down your face the feigned caricature train me in burning these contorted faces down she screamed here I am and laughed in her costume now paint me a portrait of protective mimicry you didn't notice me at all I had to change to form myself create a creature of masquerade like a body of claythat swaus in revolutions worked by hands - worked by hands he screamed I devote and laughed uniformed now paint a portrait of another cheated clone

you didn't notice me at all I had to change to form myself create a creature of masquerade
