Cinderella Effect, Genesis

Genesis
(Decence. Lyrics by Oliver Mietzner)

Forgotten the past times of unity
We glide in the arms of infinity
So find me and just keep me warm
Were shivering embraced by the storm
Our steps are so proud and so fast
Leaving the chains of the past

Forgotten the past times of unity
We glide in the arms of infinity
So find me and just keep me warm
Were shivering embraced by the storm

Our steps are so proud and so fast
Leaving the chains of the past

Were starting a new times genesis looking for old-fashioned promises
Together well break all these chains
powered by the blood in our veins

Forgotten the past times of unity
We glide in the arms of infinity
So find me and just keep me warm
Were shivering embraced by the storm
Our steps are so proud and so fast
Leaving the chains of the past

Were starting a new times genesis
looking for old-fashioned promises
Together well break all these chains
powered by the blood in our veins

Were starting a new times genesis
looking for old-fashioned promises
Together well break all these chains
powered by the blood in our veins