

Cindy Morgan, I Know You

If I could see beyond the step before me
Beyond my doubts and fears
If I could just feel Your hand in my hand
And see with my eyes You're here

Maybe I'd lean on You
More than I already do
Or maybe I'd turn away
And pretend that I don't need You

But You know the questions and You have the answers
To the doubt within my heart
And You have the strength and You have the love
Oh to fill every empty part
I'm glad that You know all You do
I'm glad that I know You

If I could just learn how not to stumble
Catch myself when I fall
If I could just learn to keep my mouth shut
When silence is best for all

I need You desperately
To calm the rage in me
Gets harder for me to conceive
How You could choose to love me

But You know the questions and You have the answers
To the doubt within my heart
And You have the strength and You have the love
Oh to fill every empty part
I'm glad that You know all You do
I'm glad that I know You

The more that we see the more we know
The weaker we are the more we grow
