

Circle Jerks, Love Kills

sometimes i ask myself why even bother it goes in one ear, right out the other out on a limb, out on the edge, no matter what they say the pleasure of pain, day after day, dat after day love kills, it hurts me to see you this way love kills, it kills me to treat you this way each day we rise with the sun in our room needles and pills lead us right to our doom, right to our doom looking like the tail end of a hurricane death warmed over, the rear end of destruction, rear end of destruction pock marks and scars adorn your face it used to be pretty but it's just getting ugly because you're getting caught up in a losing race. you're drowning in a sea of drugs they pull out the carpet, look at everything you've taken what have you done? the distance grows, you're fading away disturbed since birth, no way to control you you took a vow to love me forever never say you're sorry cuz i did it my way, i did it my way
