

Circle Of Dead Children, Two-Week Notice

There is a wicked barrier that detaches and discolors our unattainable dreams from our inescapable
Nothing chafes the ego more than the monstrous realism of eight hours of subservience applied for
Like slowly sucking cold tar through a narrow straw
Vomit upon your dreams
Slowly sucking until you die