Circle Of Dead Children, Two-Week Notice

There is a wicked barrier that detaches and discolors our unattainable dreams from our inescapable. Nothing chafes the ego more than the monstrous realism of eight hours of subservience applied for Like slowly sucking cold tar through a narrow straw Vomit upon your dreams. Slowly sucking until you die