

Circle Of Dust, Refractor (Version 3.2.1)

Manipulate my thinking as you help to speak my mind
And you make decisions as your vision only helps to keep me blind
Trampled cleanly underfoot while I'm told to stay where I am put
As you quickly run to your own safety leaving me here all alone to die

Sweet Refractor I'm indebted to you
For your need in choosing me to be the one to subdue
I've so much to think of when a push comes to shove
Because I know that it's easier to hate
Hate than love

The sky breaks forth to shed it's tears upon you're broken once again
Stifled laughter quickly turns to sorrow as beginning runs to end and There's a missing piece you've left inside me nothing seems to fill the void
Oh God I long to feel the peace again and see the hate destroyed

Sweet Refractor I'm indebted to you
For your need in choosing me to be the one to subdue
I've so much to think of when a push comes to shove
Because I know that it's easier to hate than love

Don't leave me here
Please don't leave me here
Gave me so much to fear
You've left me with such pretty scars...