Cirith Ungol, Master Of The Pit

Pray you never kneel
To the Master of the Pit
Violently stirring their brew of corruption
Lords of the dark summon certain destruction

Pray you never kneel To the one who calls you slave With the hearts and tongues of the Gods in their hands The Legions of Hell bellow forth their commands

Bow down and kneel To the Master of the Pit Though the powers of Chaos are those you abide You raise your sword to cast him aside

You know there is no escape When you see your sword in flames As the hellrains pound the darkening land Man and sword begin their last stand

You know you'll never kneel To the Master of the Pit Feverish prayers of life ever after As your doom driven blade drinks the soul of the Master