

Cirrus, You Are (Panacea)

Oh these tattered imaginary wings Want to make them real real

Oh these many useless coverings Want to make throw away away

You are the shelter in the winter rain
You are the child underneath the pain
You are

Feeling heavy you won't let it down It's not their not their Sparrow falling until she's on the ground Your not alone alone

You are the caged one who is finally free
You are the oasis in the desert heat

You are the shelter in the winter rain
You are the child underneath the pain
You hold the answer though you can't explain
What you are to me