

Claire Toomey, One Last Look

All that I have, I'd give it up for one last chance
All that I thought, it was forgotten
All that I saw, I'd rearrange,
All that I knew should be explained
All that I thought I'd understood,
I never really thought I could

I'd give it up for one last look at what we had
I'd give it up for one last chance to take it back
I'd give it up for one last look at what we had
Before I close my eyes, think you should realise.

Id give it up for one last look
Just so you know you're not forgiven

All that I saw, I'd rearrange,
All that I knew should be explained
All that I thought I'd understood,
I never really thought I could

I'd give it up for one last look at what we had
I'd give it up for one last chance to take it back
I'd give it up for one last look at what we had
Before I close my eyes, think you should realise
Think you should realise
Think you should realise

I'd give it up for one last look at what we had
I'd give it up for one last chance to take it back
I'd give it up for one last look at what we had
Before I close my eyes, think you should realise.
Think you should realise
Think you should realise
