

Clannad, Anam

when will I see an end to destruction and woe and how will I see no division, in my life there comes a time to make amends never too late to try again to save our soul
when will I see an end to the famine and war and when will I say there's no solution no more
all that I see is soul destroying, greed when will I say there's no solution to meet
