

Claude King, Chip'n Dale's Place

Tu du dup to do do do do too do do doo
I didn't know it was the bubbles in the wine
Or the touch of her lips that blew my mind
Cause I became a man of Chip'n Dale's Place
I didn't know it was the bubbles in the wine...

Well my mama's in the kitchen fixin' supper she thinks I'm a chopin' woods
Papa's in his big chair sippin' on a beer there Lord knows he's feelin' good
When mama gets ready to call me it's all gonna be in vain
How you gonna hear your mama callin' when you're thumbin' a ride in rain
I'm twenty-one years and I'm ready I guess I'm loaded for bear
I never really had any good times now I'm gonna get my share
I must have walked ten miles now the rain is turnin' to pale
I better go inside pull myself at a place called Chip'n Dale's
Tu du dup to do do do do too do do doo
I walked in and I sat down I was about to freeze
Then I felt the hand on my shoulder she said baby what's you gonna be
My mind flashed back to my mama cause mama used to baby me
But more I looked at this woman she didn't look like mama to me
I didn't know it was the bubbles in the wine...
Tu du dup to do do do do too do do doo
