

Claus Hempler, King Of Slapstick

King Of Slapstick.
Claus Hempler

Kind welcome to you all who never come when the master calls Ill bite the sawdust, bow and scrape and serve the punchlines on a plate

Your mascara melting in the sun watching all the secrets come undone were endlessly in love below the stars so all in all were perfect as we are

Its a circus, Im your clown who knows the routine, the ups and downs who learned lesson number one: to keep a straight face, to overcome the guilt and shame and show no pain while the heart cracks like porcelain

Your mascara melting in the sun
watching all the secrets come undone
were endlessly in love below the stars
so all in all we re perfect as we are

You want something you cant get in return for what you pay teach me something I havent already learned the hard way

Your mascara melting in the sun
watching all the secrets come undone
were endlessly in love below the stars
so all in all were perfect as we are